STRINGHAM, Briant, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 28, 1825, at Windsor, Broome Co., N. Y., a son of George Stringham and Polly Hendrickson. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he located there and helped to plant trees, build houses and otherwise develop the place. He was a lover of animals, could recognize fine points in stock, and engaged in horse trading. He was appointed Probate Judge of Cache County in 1856, but still engaged in raising fine stock and at the Fair, fostered by the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Company, he won prizes for his exhibits in 1857. For fifteen years he had charge of the tithing stock of the Church and during the Indian wars had charge of the commissary department. He died in Salt Lake City Aug. 4, 1871, survived by a large family. Vol 4 LDS Biogr. Encyc p 720
